Destemmed with a light cursh into direct vatting with the skins (no sulfur added). Spontaneous fermentation for 14 days with daily pumpovers. The must is bled off during the last 3 days and transferred to another tank to complete fermentation. The removed skins are gently pressed and a portion is added to the must that is finishing fermentation.

About the Winery/Winemaker

While nearly forgotten, Utiel Requena was crowned one of Spain's first DOs in the 1930's. Approximately 45 miles off the SE coast of Mediterranean, within the Comunitat Valenciana - the arid, harsh climate from the northwest welcomes the strong Mediterranean influence of warming wind. The high altitude sites in Requena (1000m) are dotted with poor, organic soils of river rock, clay and limestone, make it the perfect setting for pesticide free farming practices. The goal with Kiki & Juan Wines is to make simple, fresh wines from old fashioned techniques. "Kiki" uses her longstanding relationships with friends and grape growers in Spain to find the organic vineyards that OVUM winemaker "Juan" will use as his muse to create low-intervention wines that are a reflection of their vineyard and vintage.
