About the Winery/Winemaker

Founded in 2009 by Fernando Pérez Castro, this Valle de Guadalupe winery farms organically across several distinct sites, including a 17-acre estate vineyard at 1,000 ft elevation and additional parcels in Paraiso, Ojos Negros, and Uruapan, each contributing unique soils and character. With an annual production of about 10,000 cases and eight wines, the project is led by acclaimed enologist Gustavo González, former head winemaker for Italy's legendary Super Tuscan "Masseto." The estate's old-vine Grenache, over 60 years in age, anchors its flagship wine "Pagano," which is featured on The French Laundry's wine list. Since 2012, the winery has championed organic viticulture, and its striking labels are original works by Mexico City-based LGBTQ artists, reflecting a commitment to both sustainability and cultural expression.
